The Symposium will take place September 14-16, 2005. The meetings will be held at the Best Western University Inn Hotel and Conference Center in Moscow, Idaho. A registration form and schedule is included with this announcement. A number of topics will be addressed by experts and participants in completed and ongoing negotiated settlements. The Department of Interior has confirmed its participation. Congressional staff and other federal representatives will also be on the program.

We expect another excellent conference. Successful symposia have been held over the past fourteen years. The primary meeting format consists of panel discussions with presenters who have been involved in negotiated settlements representing tribal, state, local, and federal governments, interest groups, congressional staff, and others. The meeting schedule provides opportunities for informal interchange and cultural enlightenment. Participant feedback from the meetings has been very positive. Continuing Legal Education Credit will be available for lawyers who attend.
